The Vicar writes

Dear Parishioners

When I arrived in Stanford in 2013 I soon discovered how important the churchyard is to very many families. Many local families, I know, have generations buried there and graves provide an opportunity for people to gather and remember, and to be connected to family past and present.

I soon discovered, however, that on current usage the churchyard would, like in so many other village churchyards across the country, soon be full. Last year I served Notice on the Stanford Parish Council that I believed as from mid to late 2016, the churchyard would no longer have space for new graves, and that burials would only be able to take place as an addition to an existing family grave.

The Stanford Parish Council is currently engaged in finding suitable ongoing provision for burials, as is their legal obligation, once a churchyard is full. However, at present, there are only 14 new grave spaces left, plus any which are legally reserved by Faculty. This raises the obvious question as to who will be given the opportunity to use them.

The Church of England's nation and historic legal position is that those who live in a parish, or die in one, have the legal right to be buried in a churchyard providing there is room. Those who are on the Electoral Roll of a church but who live outside also have legal rights. Any other request – including those living outside but who might have a previous connection with the parish - is at the sole discretion of the Incumbent, ie, the Vicar.

With space running out, from mid-way through last year I had to apply the national rule that only those living in, or dying in the parish could take one of the available graves. Last year I had to disappoint four families with previous connections to the parish and last month, had to disappoint another family. I can assure you this is not something any vicar wants to do, especially to families going through such a difficult time. I therefore thought it best to make the policy more publicly known to save any sudden disappointment.

The only fair way is to have a consistent policy based on residency, otherwise there is the grey area of how long a person lived in the parish, when they moved out, why they moved (nursing home etc), whether they have any other family graves in the churchyard - and a whole variety of other connections. Trying to differentiate fairly and consistently between all that, as I am sure you will appreciate, would be a minefield. Whatever decision I made would offend someone. Therefore, the decision to be consistent by 'residency at the time of death' is the only option that I can go with as it is fair to everyone.

That said, we have plenty of room left for the Burial of Ashes. These can be interred in a family grave, or on the Ashes area to the North side of the church. Ashes cannot be scattered in a churchyard, only interred underground. In due course we hope to develop the Ashes area into a Garden of Remembrance which will create a nicer, more dignified area for families to visit.

I appreciate that some of this will be a disappointment to many people, but in rural villages a higher proportion of people prefer burial to cremation and so full churchyards are becoming a regular occurrence. I hope that before long we shall know where the new cemetery for Stanford will be and once it is consecrated and opened; it too will provide a space to lay our loved ones to rest in peace.

With my kind regards

Yours Paul Revd Paul Eddy Vicar

Thank You

A big thank you from Brandan BC and Macmillan Cancer Support

As a fair amount of you know I have recently done a sponsored head shave to raise money for Macmillan Cancer Support in the memory of my Grandad who passed away due to prostate cancer in the summer holidays last year. In total I raised a whopping £750 on top of what we had already raised at my Grandads' wake (£1400). My initial target was £600 so a huge thank you to everyone who sponsored me, also I would like to say a special thank you to Mrs Kerrie Taylor who made an incredible donation of £90. As I am an explorer scout, I will be handing the money over to Macmillan during one of the Thursday evening meets - a date yet to be confirmed. If anybody else would like to support this excellent and well deserving cause, you still have an opportunity so please dig deep. To donate please go to www.justgiving.com/Brandan-BC
